CANDIDATES MAKE QUEER ALLIANCES.

Combinations of Illinois Gubernatorial Aspirants Puzzling to Republican Voters.

YATES MEN IN ALL OF THEM.

Governor Is Tied Up in Various Counties With Deneen, Lowden, Sherman, Hamlin and Warner.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 12-The acrimony be tween the Republican candidates for Governor is becoming fiercer every day. Combinations are being made in many counties that would not have been considered posetble at the time of the love feast. This is causing ill feeling on all sides.

State Attorney Dencen, it is believed here, has entered into an offensive and defensive alliance with Governor Yates in Northern Illinois. Mr. Deneen is the fa-vorite of the influential Republican newspapers of Chicago, who cardially hate the Governor. Deneen is assisting Yates in Carroll and Whiteside, and in return is to have the aid of the administration in Winnebago, Boone and McHenry. This is not pleasing to the friends of Mr. Deneen, who really prefer anybody to Yates.

In each county the Yates-Dencen combination is against Lowden, but the alliance between Yates and Deneen is not the only one the Governor's friends have formed. In Peorla they are for Lowden only one the Governor's friends have formed. In Peorla they are for Lowden to beat Sherman, in McLean they are with Sherman to beat Warner. In Logan they are shoulder-to-shoulder with Hamlin to beat Warner, and in Coles they light with Warner to defeat Hamlin.

Warner to defeat Hamlin.

Warner to defeat Hamlin.

Warner to defeat Hamlin.

Congressman Warner will return to Chicago to-morrow, and there is a rumor current that he is disgusted at the meagerness of his support.

Governor Yates had a special engine from the Burlington road and made a flying tour of Carroll County to-day, Colonel Lowden closes his engagement in that county to-night with a meeting at Mount Carroll. Lowden has carried two cities and Yates two in Whiteside County. The deciding towns hold their primaries next Tuesday and Wednesday. It looks now as if both Carroll and Whiteside would be carried by Yates.

State Attorney Deneen's Chicago friends refuse to discuss the action of their candidate in mixing in the muss in Whiteside and Carroll, which is plainly in the interest of Governor Yates. In Whiteside the adherents of Deneen openly support the Governor and express their hostility for Lowden. In Carroll, where a voting primary prevails, Deneen's vote will come from Lowden principally.

Governor Tates is being severely criticized for appointing a bartender as a member of the Illinois Fish Commission in order to set the union labor vote of Savanna. Reports from Savanna to-day assert the new Commissioner declined to out Lowden's standard until he received three months salary ($225) in advance.

It will be news to members of the Legislature that the Fish Commissioners get any salary whatever. Scott Cowen uniounced officially vesterday that Lowden's tandard until he received the county. The cail of the County Committee did not concede this to Lowden.

The raixup in Peorla is causing concern on all sides. None of the leaders here seems to know how it will result, and they are disposed to discount the Yates-Lowden combination.

YATES RUNNING FAR AHEAD. Illinois Governor Carries Three Precincts in Jacksonville.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 12.—Primaries were held in three Jacksonville precincts to-night and were carried for Yates. Pisgah, Mr. Rannells's home precinct, was manimously instructed for Yates. Ran-nells also carried Markham Precinct and gets three delegates there. Alexander, Chapin, Arcadia and Sinclair went for Yates.

There will be 186 votes in the conven-tion Tuesday and 175 delegates have been instructed for Yates.

THOMAS W. HACKETT A CANDIDATE Club Seeks Mayoralty Nomination. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 12 -Thomas w Hackett, a member of the Executive Committee of the Union Men's Political Club mittee of the Union Men's Political Club, became a candidate for Mayor on the Republican ticket to-day. He ran for the same office two years ago on a labor ticket and polled nearly 2,000 votes.

Hackett's candidacy complicates matters for the Republicans somewhat, as former Congressman Crowther has been depending largely on the labor vote to land the nomination.

WOLVES HELD AT BAY

A GREEDY PACK OF ILLS SURROUND A CLERGYMAN'S WIFE.

Through the Arrival of Timely Air She Escapes From the Terrors of a Prolonged Siege.

She Escapes From the Terrors of a Prolonged Siege.

The Reverend W. A. Denton of Girard. Crawford County, Kansas, tells the following story of a harrowing experience of one of the members of his family: "My wife," he says, "was assailed for fifteen years by a combination of aliments following the birth of our first child. The food she ate fermented in her stomach, she had frequent dizzy spells, her limbs were swollen and painful, her nerves were quite shattered, she was unable to sleep and she was many times on the verge of heart failure.

"Physicians gave her only temporary relief. Finally, the favorable reports of some relatives and neighbors led her to make trial of Doctor Williams Pink Pills for Pale People. She experienced improvement almost at once. They relieved her sleeplessness, the smothering sensations have disappeared and have not annoved her for years. They freed her from stomach trouble and the dropsical tendency was mitigated. The progress of the rheumatism, which had begun to make her fingers crooked, was stayed and the pain was banished. In every respect they gave her more help than any other remedy she had ever used, and she is to-day in better health than for many years.

"Doctor Williams" Pink Pills are our staple household remedy, and I am in the habit of recommending them to all who suffer from troubles like those which afficited my wife."

WOULD HELP SPEND WORLD'S FAIR LOAN.

Novel Schemes Suggested to Exposition Officials for Utilizing the $4,600,000.

PLANS LARGE GLASS GLOBE

Pirate's Trunk and a Reunion of the Roosevelt Rough Riders Are Features, Urged for the Big Show.

Since the World's Fair authorities undertook to secure the $1.600,000 loan from Congress every mall reaching the Administration building has contained a batch of leiters from persons suggesting features for which the money could be spent. These suggestions come from every section of the United States.

Many of the writers appear to believe that the Exposition Company will lack opportunities and things for which to spend its money, and they are willing to kelp in this respect. The suggestions are for exhibit features, concessions and forms of entertainment.

A letter was received yesterday from George L. Pierce of Brooklyn, N. Y., inclosing plans for a huge glass globe, which, he says, would be an attraction the Exposition could hardly do without. The proposed globe is 100 feet in diameter and elevated on a stand with four supports, each 25 feet high.

Inside the glass is a system of lights ports, each 25 feet high.

Inside the glass is a system of lights and lenses, which will throw upon the outer circle a map of the world. At night the globe would form a luminous point, glowing with many colors, ever changing and fading. By simply switching a lever the map of the world will disappear and in its place be shown a map of the heavens.

Mr. Pierce states that he is working on another detail for his globe, which, if he perfects, "will be something out of the ordinary." This feature is an apparatus which will permit storing sunlight in the globe, which at night will grow brilliantly and illuminate, he declares, "half of the Exposition grounds."

Closing his letter, Mr. Pierce says; "By working about 500 men it would be possible to build my globe in time for the opening of the Fair. It would not cost more than $500,000, including my fee, With the money you expect to get from Congress you might build two of the globes.

H. L. Petersen of South McAlester, L. T., who says that he was a member of the Rough Rider regiment commanded by President Roosevelt during the Spanish-American War, writes suggesting that the Exposition, at its own expense, assemble the men who served in that organization, mount them and use them as a feature for the opening exercises.

"The boys would be willing to come," says Peterson, "and it would be a nice thing to have the President there to see us. It would be a fine reunion. Some of us are dead, and some have scattered, but many will come."

D. S. Abner of Tampa, Fla., wants the Exposition to send a committee to look at an old trunk he has, to see if it is worth exhibiting at the Fair. He says the trunk is very old, having been given to him by an old sailor who had been around the world more than thirty times. The sailor informed Mr. Abner that the trunk was once the property of a pirate.

One of the first things to be taken up is a proposition to provide meeting quarters for the various organizations of women which will meet at the Exposition. The Day Nursery and Home of Rest for Women will also be pushed.

The board has decided to broaden its plan of entertainment. One of its first entertainments will be a luncheon to the General Federation of Women's Clubs. It is expected that this function will be attended by about 1,300 guests. MILITIA COMPANIES COMING.

North Carolina National Guard Will Visit World's Fair.

A request has been received by the World's Fair from Lieutenant R. S. Wilkins, commanding Company E. Second North Carolina National Guard, for accommodations for his company for two weeks, beginning June 2. He writes that several other North Carolina militia companies expect to attend the Exposition.

Captain N. H. Cox of the Florida First

Captain N. H. Cox of the Florida First Infantry writes that a battalion of 150 men from that regiment desires to attend the Exposition for ten days, commencing about July 1.

Major Walter E. Coney of Savannah, Ga., says in a letter that the Georgia National Guard probably will be represented at the Exposition by the Third Infantry, the First Battalion, Henry Artillery, and the First Company, German Volunteers.

Colonel Culp has received information that the Illinois State University will send 1,000 cadets to the dedication of the Illinois building on May 27.

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON. For February 21, Jesus and the Sab-

BUILDING TODAY,

BUILDING TODAY,

CONTEXT—Interlectural pride is often the chief infirmity of educated men, producing jealousy toward their superiors that sometimes results in enmity. This was the effect upon the minds of the scribes who were boastful of their learning and who were so successfully answered by Jesus in the case of the paralytic, studied last week, Thereafter they pursued lim with public hostility. Hoping to ensare him in his teachings, All this comes out in the marrative between the former lesson and the lesson to-day. The events were, the call of Matthew, the question about fasting, the infirm man cured at Bethesda—part occurring in Galliee and part in Judea. At every step until the bath." (Matthew xii, 1-5.) were, the call of Matthew, the question about fasting, the infirm man cured at Bethesda-part occurring in Galliee and part in Judea. At every step until the death on the cross these enemies and critics gathered about the Savior to destroy or weaken his influence with the people and so to put obstacles in the way of his great work. In to-day's lesson we shall see how they presented questions concerning the Sabbath question raised in a former incident and how Jesus repiled. OCCASION-Jesus and his disciples were on a journey, returning to Capernam after a successful ministry in the neighboring villages. They passed through a corn field, what we call a wheat field. Their corn was not like our matze. This welk was allowable up to a distance of 2.00 yards, a Sabbath day's journey (Actsi, 12.) The disciples became hungry. There is no evidence that Jesus felt the need of any food. He may have been supernaturally sustained, or he may have suppressed any discomfort experienced. It is certain that he had power over bodily conditions. (Matt. iv. 2.) Hence, while he passed on nis way the disciples plucked the ripened grath, rubbed it in their hands, blew away the chaff, and ate. (Verse I.) This was no trespass, hat a liberty allowed to travelers under the law. (Deut. xxiii, 25.) A very wise and gracious provision it was, in that country, with its popular modes of travel and its system of public inns. The disciples evidently felt that there was no impropriety in their conduct-probably they had done the same thing many times. CRITICISM—Instantly the Pharinees gathered about our Lord. They had followed him wherever he went, keeping a constant espionage upon his actions. In the seashore, and in the fields they watched, reproached, tempted and insulted him. On the slightest pretext they sought to arraign blim at the bar of public opinion and to destroy his growing infinence with the masses. Now they think they have lighted upon a heinous offense, and they openity declare that the disciples have done what was unlawful. (Verse 2.)

demned the innocent, a form of criticism not allogether unknown in the church of our time.

PRECEDENT—The reply of Jesus was in two parts. He first appealed from the teachings of the Jewish doctors, on which the Pharisees relied, to the Scriptures. "Have ye not read," he inquired. (Verse 2.) What a gentle, yet stinging rebuke! And then he quotes from the book what may be considered two precedents, as warrants for the acts of the disciples. David under stress of hunger (I Sam. xxi, 6), had eaten the shew-bread which was wholly devoted to the priests. (Ex. xxix, 52.) And the priests were authorized by law to do on the Subbath (verse 5), what belongs really to other days, and were blameless because they were engaged in God's service. (Numb. xxviii, 2). These two citations from the word of God showed that the ideas of the Pharisees were false on the subject of sanctity. Will you blame these fishermen disciples for taking a little food when they are hungry, with such illustrations of a larger liberty practiced by the great King and by the very ministers of the Jewish church? This was a difficult question for the critics to answer.

was a difficult question for the critics to answer.

AUTHORITY—This first reply was supported by a second, if possible, more forceful (verses 6 to 8.) Jesus was not willing to leave this subject under the limitations of the old covenant, as he would have done had he paused with the fifth verse. He immediately passes over to the new covenant and asserts his superiority and authority. He declared himself to be greater than the temple, which the Jews regarded with peculiar reverence. (Matt. xxvii, 40.) He affirmed that the Pharisees were ignorant of the great principles of mercy, which he came to publish, and which were of infinitely greater moment than any sacrifice or ordinance, implying that, if necessary, the old custom might yield to give place to the larger and better aspects of spirituality, containing also a reproof for the formalism and legalism of that day which had obscured and dwarfed its plety. These statements, prepared for a veference to himself, as lord of the Sabbath. He had come to introduce its true observance, to correct the false notions and restore it to its rightful place. His authority over the day was complete, He would guard it and regulate is observance, and no one need offer any suggestions in its behalf. If he were pleased so took and appoint another.

ENMITY—The Pharisees were silenced because there was nothing further for them to say, but their opposition was inster was superior to them—they hated him for that reason, and determined to find some mode of accusing him to the authorities. The occasion was soon presented. The whole company moved on, entered Capernaum, and went into the synagogue. (Verse 2). There was found a man with a were accustomed to visit places of worship that they might appeal for aid. (Acts iii. 2). Here is Pharisalc opportunity, Drawing near the question is gently put to Jesus, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath days?" (Luke xiii, 14). That appeared like confessed ignorance in the presence of acknowledged wisdom. It was intended to be a snare. Knowing the goodness of the Sabross and the state of the savior's heart, and remembering his many cures, they expected to provoke him into an act that would warrant a legal proves the gloss of the Rabbis, who held that the fourth commandment (Ex. xx. 9) forbade even acts of mercy they expected an easy conviction.

RESPONSE—This new phase of the Sabbath question was met first in the concrete and second in the abstract. (Verses 10 and 11). Turing to the Pharisees Jesus asked if any off them would hesitate to null his sheep out of a pit into which it had fallen on the Sabbath. That appealed to them and they could not answer.
